

Scientific brand White Bamboo Exfoliator – Product Review

Jun 11, 2010 Francine Brokaw

An exfoliator gently scrubs off dead skin while renewing layers underneath. White Bamboo Exfoliator provides additional benefits.

Scientific's White Bamboo Exfoliator warms up when it is mixed with water. Warmth opens pores and cold closes them, which is the reason people are instructed to wash with warm water then rinse with cool water.

This product contains silicone-wrapped bamboo crystals which help in resurfacing the skin. White Bamboo Exfoliator is designed to deep clean, balance the skin, remove dead cells, purify the skin and minimize pores. By gently massaging the product into the skin, the warmth goes deep to lift out dirt, oils, and all the pollutants we are all exposed to in today's world. The directions suggest this product be used twice a week while showering, however it works just as well outside of the shower.

Exfoliating should be part of a regular skin regimen. This White Bamboo Exfoliator is a good product and does produce results. It smoothes the skin and feels good doing it. It is like a mini-facial massage. It feels great.

The White Bamboo Exfoliator is a good addition to any skin care regimen, whether it is combined with other Scientific products or not. It deep cleans and polishes skin, thereby making skin look younger and more refreshed. It is always a good idea to exfoliate skin before applying any tanner for a smoother application. It also makes makeup look smoother and more natural.

Scientific Products

Beside the White Bamboo Exfoliator, the Scientific brand of skin products includes Intensive Repair Serum which hydrates skin and is designed to plump wrinkles, however do not think of this as a wrinkle remover.

The Brightening Serum helps even out skin tone and reduces discoloration. It is a soothing serum and can be used under make-up.

There is a pH Balancing Cleanser and a Daily Hydrating Cream as well as a Lifting Serum.

Dr. Beer created the Scientific products by studying the science behind the different ingredients. Being a consultant for several skin care companies as well as having treated over twenty thousand patients, Dr. Beer felt he knew what the skin needs. The Scientific line is designed for all skin types, however if someone has extremely sensitive skin, there is never a 100 per cent guarantee. You know your skin better than anyone, so act accordingly.
